What is STC StoryLab?

STC StoryLab is a multi-year oral history project that will collect and share the oral history and living memory of St. Catharines. Every St. Catharines resident has a story worth telling about our community, no matter how long they've lived here. Stories and memories of life in St. Catharines matter, and it is the mission of the STC StoryLab project to collect, preserve, share, and interpret a diverse range of oral history to build a more robust repertoire of local and personal stories that give our city collective identity.

Your story is a thread that, together with others, weaves the fabric of our community.

Why Do We Want Your Story?

The purpose of STC StoryLab is to build a repertoire of life in St. Catharines at particular moments in time through lived memory and storytelling. We're hoping to collect stories and lived experiences of community members of all walks of life, whether they're new to St. Catharines, or a life-long resident.

Stories and memories preserved in the Museum's Collection have, in the past, been reserved for the 'most important' in the community. StoryLab will help to fill in the gaps with your stories and memories, along with artifacts and other media, to help present a more inclusive and varied narrative for our city and for future generations.

Head to our Youtube page - St. Catharines Museum - to hear stories that others have shared with STC StoryLab.

Preparing for Your Interview

Included in this welcome package is all the information you need to participate in the project, including the ethical standards guiding the project, a consent form, and a few photo-prompts to help you get in the right frame of mind for sharing your stories. There will be a few more forms to complete at the time of your interview.

Included in the welcome package is:

- Oral History Consent Form.
- Information on the use of your information and privacy protection.
- Photographic prompts to help you get in the right frame of mind for your interview.
- A reflection activity that will give you a sense of the goals and direction of our conversation with you.

How We Will Use Your Information

Your participation is voluntary. As a project participant, you have the authority to remain anonymous or to withdraw from the project at any time.

Any and all of the material you share, including the audio and/or video recording of your image, your voice, and the subject matter and content you share with us may be used by the Museum at any time, in the following ways:

- On social media platforms, as video, audio, blog, podcast, and any other types of content.
- At public programs or events.
- In Museum exhibitions.
- With the stories of other interviewees, or on its own.
- As individual stories, a part from the whole interview.
- As research material/copy work available to the public in our collection.

Your address, email address, phone number, or any other private and sensitive information will not be shared in any way. Your address, email address, and phone number will be kept by the Collection for contact purposes only.

More information regarding the permissions involved is included in the Oral History Consent Form.

Your Story Matters

Consent to Participate in an oral history interview being conducted by the St. Catharines Museum and Welland Canals Centre. This is to state that I agree to participate in the STC StoryLab project.

PURPOSE: I have been informed that the purpose of the project is to collect, preserve, share, and interpret the stories of the people of St. Catharines by conducting long-form, life-story interviews.

PROCEDURES: The interview will be conducted physically-distanced at the St. Catharines Museum and Welland Canals Centre, via remote video call via Zoom, or another method agreed between the participant and the interviewer. Interviewers will record participants' life stories using video or audio, depending on the preference of the participant. The participant can choose to discuss any aspect of their lives and they may refuse to answer any questions. Participants may take as long as they would like in the interview and are free to stop at any time.

RISKS AND BENEFITS: Describing difficult experiences can be upsetting and emotionally difficult. As the STC StoryLab project will produce various digital content for public consumption, with your permission, your story will be heard.

CONDITIONS OF PARTICIPATION: Please review the following conditions and options with the interviewer before your interview begins. Feel free to ask questions.

I understand that I am free to withdraw my consent at any time during the interview and discontinue from that point forward.

In terms of identification and reproduction of my interview, I agree to Open public access – My identity may be revealed in any publications or presentations that may result from this interview.

I would like to remain anonymous.

I agree to the possible broadcasting and reproduction of sound and images of my interview by any method and in any media by the St. Catharines Museum. I consent that my interview, or portions of it, be made available on the internet on social media, through web pages and/or on-line databases of the project.

I agree that recordings of my interview will be stored at the St. Catharines Museum and Welland Canals Centre for long-term preservation. Your interview may be accessed by researchers and the public by viewing it at the St. Catharines Museum and Welland Canals Centre.

In cases where family photographs or documents are scanned or photographed:

I agree to let the interviewee copy family photographs and documents for their being archived with the interview recording. I likewise give permission to have these images reproduced in curated digital content for social media by the St. Catharines Museum and Welland Canals Centre.

I HAVE CAREFULLY STUDIED THE ABOVE AND UNDERSTAND THIS AGREEMENT. I FREELY AND VOLUNTARILY AGREE TO PARTICIPATE IN THIS PROJECT.

Reflection Activity: Jot It Down

The STC StoryLab project is recording the life stories of the people of St. Catharines through long-form, life-story interviews. To help you recall long-ago, or even recent memories, we've put together an optional reflection activity to inspire your storytelling.

Below, we've selected a list of words related to universal concepts we've all experienced in some way. Read the word and jot down the first memory or story that comes to mind in the space provided. If nothing comes to mind, that's ok. You can leave it blank or return later.

Universal Concept	Story/Memory
Childhood
School Dance
Summertime
Moive Theatre
Family Holiday
First Job
First Date
Wintertime
